ROOT ADVISES
HARDING ABOUT LEAGUE STAND

Touche on Legal and Diplomatic Angles Of Question.

HOOVER MENTIONED

May Be Secretary Of Labor In Harding Cabinet.

Marion, Dec. 13.—Another brief in the case to settle definitely the international policy of the United States, was presented to Senator Harding today. Elihu Root brought to the president-elect his conclusions as to world conditions gathered at first hand from the dominating minds of Europe.

Unlike the arguments made yesterday by Herbert Hoover, Senator Root while it is understood has also advocated the present league with certain sweeping changes as a groundwork for American foreign relationships, dealt almost entirely with the legal, diplomatic and political angles of the situation. Mr. Hoover, he himself announced went more deeply into economic, financial and industrial conditions of America and Europe than into the political range of discussion.

Concerning the functioning of the present league, its formation, its provisions and the processes by which they were reached, probably none is better qualified to speak than Senator Root. On the invitation of the league he acted as one of the council which outlined the scope, organization and procedure of the international tribunal.

Mr. Hoover, in his interview with Senator Harding, it became known today, brought to the latter accurate conclusions as to the stand of labor in the present industrial crisis and the attitude of the employers. It is known that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor outlined to Mr. Hoover recently, their determination to fight desperately any reduction of wages or extension of hours. They sought his help to work out a plan whereby, through increased efficiency, production might be speeded up and plants kept open thus avoiding danger of unemployment. Mr. Hoover, it is understood, has sounded out employers on this subject and brought their views also to Senator Harding's attention.

The intimate relationship of Mr. Hoover with both employers and employees has caused increased speculation here as to the possibility of his appointment as secretary of labor in the Harding Cabinet.

The proponents of an amended or reconstructed league are having their day in court at Marion just now and continue to be represented through the week. Colonel George Harvey, sturdy opponent of the league, continues however, to remain at the Harding home where he has been a guest since the arrival of Charles Evans Hughes last Friday.

The Rev. John Wesley Hill, former pastor of a prominent New York church, is expected to visit Senator Harding today.

MISSING CHILDREN
STILL NOT FOUND;
POLICE ON SEARCH

Belief Expressed That Mother Has Taken Them To Home.

St. Marys, Dec. 13.—Police of Ohio and Illinois today were trying to find some trace of Zola Howe, aged 12, and her brother, Dana Howe, aged 12, who were kidnapped Friday while on their way home from school.

Police last night said they believed the children were kidnapped by their mother, whose home is in Kankakee, Ill. Mrs. Howe has been separated from her husband, whose home is in Langdon, Kan., for about four years.

The children were living here at the home of relatives of the father, W. H. Howe. Relatives enlisted the aid of the police of Ohio and Illinois in an effort to find some trace of the missing children.

SAYS JAPAN DOES NOT WANT WAR

Columbus, O., Dec. 13.—"Japan does not want war any more than America does," said Rev. Frank Harrison Smith, missionary in Japan, addressing a local audience.

"If there is war between America and Japan it will be because of unfair treatment of Japanese in America and if the treatment now accorded Japanese in America continues, serious results will follow," he predicted. "Young Japan is not militaristic and the men of the country have no desire to compete with American on the field of battle.

They would rather compete in commercial field."

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING.

Marion, O., Dec. 13.—John Nye, today was held to the grand jury on a charge of shooting with intent to kill Joseph Ridgeway, his neighbor.

WEST VIRGINIA MINERS AND FAMILIES
LIVE IN TENTS BECAUSE OF STRIKE

Owing to the strike and trouble in the West Virginia anthracite fields, many miners' families are homeless and are living in tents despite the cold weather. This photo, made at the tent colony at Lick Creek, near Williamson, W. Va., shows some of the striking miners both white and black, with their children. The city is under martial law. Many trials are pending as the result of a number of shooting matches.

HOUSE PASSES MEASURE
CHECKING IMMIGRATION

BULLETIN

Washington, Dec. 13.—The house passed immigration suspension bill.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The house

this afternoon by a vote of 181 to 155 adopted an amendment to the immigration bill providing that the period of suspension of immigration shall be limited to one year.

REVIVAL OF WAR FINANCE CORPORATION FURTHERED

Concerted Move To Force Vote On Gronna Resolution Made In Senate By Senators From Agricultural Districts.

Washington, Dec. 13.—A concerted move to force a vote on the Gronna resolution reviving the war finance corporation is to be made in the senate today by Senators from agricultural states seeking to provide farmers relief.

It is not believed by senators opposing the measure in its present form that supporters of the bill can muster enough votes to insure its passage unless it is amended so as to meet their objections. If the senate passes it amended or unamended, it is certain to encounter similar opposition in the house and final action on it may be delayed until after the Christmas holidays.

The possibility of its being vetoed by President Wilson is another factor of the situation which is giving the supporters grave concern.

Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, is leading the opposition because the section directs the federal reserve board to grant liberal extensions of credit to farmers on agricultural products by permitting rediscounting at the lowest possible rate.

Smoot and Senator McLean, Republican of Connecticut, chairman of the senate banking and currency committee, who is also opposing the resolution, declare this section is an "attempt to deceive the farmer by having congress authorize the federal reserve board to do something that cannot be done."

PART OF ITALIAN
ARMY DESERTS TO D'ANNUNZIO SIDE

Four Armored Cars Carry Soldiers From Regulars To Fiume.

Trieste, Dec. 13.—The first break in the regular Italian army, it was learned today, when four armored cars started from Udine, three of which succeeded in reaching the palace of Gabrielle d'Annunzio, in Fiume.

The fourth car was prevented from reaching its destination by a sentinel, who cut the tires, bringing it to a halt.

The crew of the car, however, escaped and reached Fiume on foot. General Caviglia, the Italian commander, went to Abbazia, Istria, known as "the Nice of Italy," where he conferred with the commanders who are opposing the forces of d'Annunzio.

It is stated that, owing to the immovable position of d'Annunzio, the Government intends to send an ultimatum to him containing the threat of an offensive action. It is reported however, that d'Annunzio would welcome any military demonstration.

The defection from the army and the recent joining of the poet's forces by naval craft, it is believed here, will hasten decisive action. General Caviglia's mission to Abbazia is believed to be in this connection.

There were wild scenes in Fiume yesterday when members of the autonomous party, who are d'Annunzio's sworn enemies, were beaten by legionnaires in reprisal for having adopted resolutions condemning the poet. Socialists also were attacked.

The old National Council has adopted a resolution declaring that its members will remain true to d'Annunzio.

FIRE IN HOSPITAL
ENDANGERS LIVES OF CRAZED SOLDIERS

Walter Reed Institution at Washington Scene of Bad Blaze.

Washington, Dec. 13.—One insane soldier was burned to death and 200 more had thrilling escapes in a fire which destroyed four frame buildings in the Psychopathic section at Walter Reed Hospital Sunday.

While the flames were at their height, 40 patients suffering from shell shock broke away from orderlies and nurses guarding them and fought with insane strength to get back into a burning ward. As absolute tranquility is an essential treatment in such cases, recovery, surgeons stated last night, will be retarded at least a year.

Inflammables left in the possession of demented soldiers some of whom threatened to burn the buildings are said to be the probable cause of the fire.

The one person known to have been found burned to death was found locked in his room with the key missing. He is Alvin Messenger, a sergeant who was received at the hospital Saturday from the canal zone.

At it was near 11 o'clock when the cry of fire went up, throwing the hospital with its thousand or more patients into a turmoil. Wounded soldiers from other wards rushed to the psychopathic wards to aid the surgeons and nurses in the task of removing their crazed comrades from the fire.

One burning soldier climbed to the roof of a building and the combined strength of six men was required to get him down. Seventy demented soldiers were removed from the flames by force.

By the time the district fire department reached the scene four buildings were doomed. The grounds were covered with helpless patients. To such an extent did the difficulty in restraining the patients interfere with the firemen that a clinic building filled with valuable instruments that could have otherwise been saved was burned to the ground.

STOCKYARD EMPLOYEES
PROTEST DECISION

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Dissatisfaction over the recent action of Judge Samuel Alschuler federal mediator, in denying a general wage increase to stockyard workers, although granting them a bonus in the form of 5 per cent increases covering the period from July 5 to Dec. 5, 1920 will culminate in a mass meeting of protest by stockyard employees here tonight.

Employees are demanding that the packers permit them to open direct negotiations without the services of any mediator. In the event that this is denied by the packers a strike vote may be taken. Discontent is spreading among the workers, according to union leaders.

Irish Republicans Carry War Into "Enemy's Country" Monday

MANY ARE KILLED

Sinn Feiners Determined to Wage Relentless Guerrilla Battles.

From sporadic attacks and outbreaks, Ireland within the past 48 hours, has been plunged into a condition more closely approaching actual warfare than at any other time in the history of that unhappy country.

Irish republicans carried their war into the "enemy's country" by attacking the British troops occupying Camlough barracks in north Ireland.

According to reports many persons were killed in a violent battle at that place. Troops that were being rushed to reinforce the defenders of Camlough barracks were ambushed and another pitched battle at Camlough was the first that has taken place since martial law was proclaimed throughout southwestern Ireland.

In defiance of the martial law proclamation Sinn Feiners in South Ireland are evidently determined to wage relentless guerrilla warfare.

A military lorry was mired outside of Cork and 14 black and tan policemen wounded. The whole heart of the city of Cork is a mass of smouldering ashes today. Black and tan policemen are accused of setting the torch in reprisal for a Sinn Fein attack Saturday night but the Irish office in London denied this.

Attack Barracks.

London, Dec. 13.—Sinn Feiners attacked British military barracks at Camlough today and a violent battle followed, according to a Central News dispatch from Belfast. An unconfirmed report said that many had been killed.

Wires leading to scene have been cut and it was impossible to secure details.

INVESTIGATION INTO
MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF WOMAN STARTS

Rich Chicago Widow Is Found Dead In Apartment.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—H. C. May, of Lafayette, Ind., general superintendent of the Monon railway and wife were both expected to be present at the inquest today over the body of Mrs. Minnie Viola Reynolds, rich widow who was found in her luxurious North Side apartment. May, it was expected would testify and authorities believe his testimony will aid them in clearing the mystery surrounding Mrs. Reynolds' death.

May, it is alleged was the principal figure in the dual existence of Mrs. Reynolds, who was also known as "Mrs. H. C. May." Various papers and articles of wearing apparel bearing the name of "H. C. May" were found in the apartment occupied by Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. May, who lives in Lafayette, told the police that she spent Saturday in Chicago with her husband and that May had told her of Mrs. Reynolds' death and of the association of his name with the affair. She refused to reveal the nature of any statements made to her by her husband.

Although the room in which Mrs. Reynolds body was found by an ice-man was filled with gas, circumstances surrounding the affair and the condition of the woman's body lead the police to believe that it was not gas that caused her death.

START INVESTIGATIONS IN SREET CAR SMASH

Kansas City, Dec. 13.—Three separate investigations were started today into the street car smash which took a toll of six lives and 28 injured last night. The car, one of the one-man "safety" type ran away on a long hill, crashing into a steel pole at the end of three blocks. The car was splintered into kindling wood. Four persons were killed instantly while two of the injured died later in hospitals.

Hundreds of Persons Homeless Following Disastrous Conflagration Which Razed Large Section Of City Sunday.

BLAZE CHARGED TO BLACK AND TAN

Said To Be in Retaliation For Ambush Of Motor Lorry—Terror Reigns Over City—100 Buildings Burned Or Damaged.

Cork, Ireland, Dec. 13.—Heavy armed British troops and black and tan policemen were on guard about the fire swept ruins in the heart of Cork under orders to shoot all looters on sight.

The whole central part of the city was burned with loss estimated at $15,000,000.

Hundreds of persons are homeless. Many have fled from the city in panic.

The ruins are still smouldering this morning and the firemen under military guards were still pouring water upon the debris.

Many streets that were bustling arteries of traffic 48 hours ago were only piles of fire blackened brick today. The business district disappeared entirely. Four blocks were wiped out entirely. Only the walls of the city hall remain.

Firemen from Dublin arrived during the morning. They were met in the suburbs and conveyed to the scene of the fire by troops.

It is reported that some lives were lost in the burning buildings, but it was impossible to check the civilian population because of the panic and the exodus of thousands.

It is declared by Sinn Fein sympathizers that, before the fires broke out Saturday night black and tan policemen broke into shops and looted them, carrying off the booty in valises. The conflagration followed an ambush of military detachment at Pillons Cross.

Martial law was enforced with the utmost rigor Sunday and today.

Cork had calmed down today after passing through a veritable reign of terror. During the height of the conflagration the city was filled with tumult. Fusillades of shots rang through the streets. Panic stricken mobs surged to and fro. Rioting broke out in which many were wounded. Three persons were reported to have been killed.

Before the outbreak a number of special constables had arrived in Cork to reinforce the black and tans. Some of these "specials" were in the lobbies that were ambushed.

More than 100 buildings were burned or damaged, including the City Hall which had previously been wrecked by fire. The public library was destroyed and the Quay side gutted. The Corn Exchange, one of the finest buildings in the city was gutted. Two of the biggest stores in the city were said to have been looted before being burned. The Palace theater and Cinema were fire swept.

SMALL CRIME WAVE

SATURDAY NIGHT

Three Burglaries Are Reported To Police; No Arrests.

Three burglaries were reported to Police Saturday night in what developed into a small crime wave that swept over the city.

Harry Fudge, 23 Hivling street, awoke in time to see a man in his bedroom, to whom he gave chase, the man getting away. The robber had secured $50 from Mr. Fudge's trousers gaining entrance to the house through a door left open for members of the family who were not yet home. Mr. Fudge slipped and fell in giving chase to the robber and the man got away.

William Burba, Hivling and Collier street, reported to Police Sunday that someone had entered his house Saturday night and stolen about $18 from his trouser pocket. The door had been left open. John Tones, Taylor street, reported that a peddler had stolen $5 from him early Sunday morning. Tones awoke at three o'clock in time to see the man ascending through a window. Police investigated a report Saturday night of a "Peeping Tom" at the home of Dess McCoy, East Third street.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Counsel for the five large packers today announced they would ask for a postponement of the court proceedings scheduled to come up tomorrow in the district supreme court involving plans for the divorce of packers interest in stockyards and stockyard terminals.

Large numbers of refugees from the city spent the night in the fields. Their sufferings were intensified by cold weather and snow.

Business is at a standstill in Cork. Even the restaurants are closed. The city is without gas.

Patrol Ambushed
Dublin, Dec. 13.—One person was killed and two others were wounded when a military patrol that was enforcing martial law, was ambushed and bombed from two houses in Cloyne, County Cork, today. The troops fired upon the houses, killing one of the attacking party and wounding two. Two persons were taken. The houses were burned.

Deny Responsibility

London, Dec. 13.—In the face of apparent conclusive evidence to the contrary, the Irish office today denied that black and tans and British troops were responsible for the Cork fire. It was understood that Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland telegraphed to Dublin and Cork for a detailed report and that he expected to use this official information for replies to any questions put to him in the house of commons. Leaders of the opposition were prepared to bombard the government with hostile inquiries when commons met this afternoon.

FIRE STILL GOING.

London, Dec. 13.—The fire which destroyed the heart of Cork had not yet been completely controlled at noon today and threatened to spread, according to a Cork dispatch to the

FIRE RAZES HOUSE NEAR JAMESTOWN; LOSS IS COMPLETE

Fire, which it is believed originated from a defective flue, completely destroyed the residence owned by Mrs. John Little, near Jamestown on the Jamestown and Cedarville pike, two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Little's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Collette who make their home with her, were away from home at the time, Mrs. Little being alone when she discovered the blaze. Before aid could be summoned the flames had gained considerable headway and the Jamestown fire department which responded to a call was unable to save the building. The house was a two story brick structure. A few rugs and small pieces of furniture were all that was saved of the household goods, the clothing of all the members of the family being destroyed in the conflagration. The work of the fire department is believed to have saved the barn from destruction.

Only a small amount of insurance was carried on the house, and the loss is expected to be heavy.

The Brunswick Method of Reproduction

The ULTONA
PLAYING A BRUNSWICK RECORD

The TONE AMPLIFIER WITH GRILL REMOVED

How and Why The Brunswick is Different and Better

Only Brunswick Has the Ultona

Another phonograph may play a certain type of record correctly.

But only The Brunswick plays all the three distinct types of records exactly as they should be played.

Having all the three types of needles—steel, sapphire ball and diamond point—on one reproducer does not insure correct reproduction for all records. You need more than that.

So The Brunswick, by means of the Ultona, provides for each type of record the precise angle, the correct weight, the proper diaphragm and needle.

A turn of the hand is all that is necessary to change from one type of record to another.

The Ultona is also accurately counter-balanced to do away with old-time scratching noises.

Another Exclusive Improvement

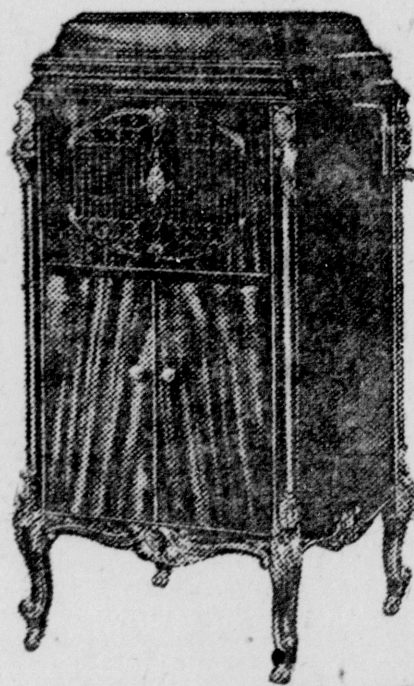

The human voice, which is the basis of all musical sounds, is modified by the mouth. The opening of the Brunswick Oval Tone Amplifier is shaped like the mouth. It allows tones to amplify properly.

Built of light, specially treated wood, like a violin. No metal used. The harsh, thin, metallic sounds noticeable in old-style methods of reproduction are banished.

Even the fine secondary tones or over-tones are reproduced by The Brunswick with astonishing fidelity.

Always Fine Cabinet Work

It is only to be expected that every Brunswick is an exquisite example of woodworking. For its makers were famous for woodworking long before phonographs were invented.

Use Your Own Ears—Your Own Judgment

Come in and hear The Brunswick before you decide on your phonograph. Examine these features and understand just what this exclusive method of reproduction means to you as a phonograph owner.

Have you heard the latest Brunswick Records? They can be played on any instrument using steel (or fibre) needles.

DANIELS OBJECTS TO ANY SUSPENSION OF NAVAL BUILDING

Washington, Dec. 13.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today announced his strenuous opposition to proposals that the United States, Great Britain and Japan enter into an agreement to suspend naval construction for a period of five years.

"The United States must have the strongest navy in the world or go into the league of nations or something similar," the secretary said.

Secretary Daniels declared that proposal for an agreement for suspension of naval construction would simply be getting back to the old era of alliances, which brought on the world war.

The proposal is understood to have originated with Great Britain and it is reported here that suggestions will be made to President elect Harding that he take the initiative in such an agreement.

Youngstown, O., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Jane Anna Hughes, 55, was almost instantly killed last night when an automobile belonging to Arso Bolovich, which was left parked at the top of Japan hill ran down the incline and crashed into the Hughes residence. The machine ploughed through the side of the home and pinned Mrs. Hughes against the wall of the dining room where she was eating supper with her husband and two sons. George Sonovich who had been driving the auto declares he left the machine with brakes firmly set and believes some one tampered with them.

With The Women of Today

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 13.—(Special)—Miss Virginia Mae Murray, secretary of the Travelers' Aid Society of New York City, the energetic and resourceful foe of vicious or irresponsible persons who seek to prey upon unprotected travelers going to that city, will undertake the work of organizing and training a force of policewomen here it has been announced.

New York is not to lose Miss Murray, however. She will divide her time between this city and New York, spending three weeks out of every month here until the force is in good working order.

"There will be every opportunity in Detroit to see what a fine force of policewomen can do," said Miss Murray when interviewed. Politics does not enter into the police situation in that city. The project of organizing a women's division of the police force originated with Dr. Jas. W. Inches, the police commissioner, who is a firm believer in preventive rather than punitive work among the young.

Like most men who have studied the situation, he feels that preventive work among girls can best be done by women. His enthusiasm is shared by the citizens' committee of Detroit and the women's protective committee, which backs up the work of the Girls' Protective League. For some time Commissioner Inches has been convinced that a constructive work among women and girls would be of benefit to the city and has been looking for some one who would organize the work.

Six Months for Work "I don't intend to give up my work at the travelers' aid. In six months the Detroit force will be organized and sufficiently well trained, I hope, so that I will be able to give much less time. My plan is to organize the force and then after we have demonstrated what such a group of women can do for the city to turn it over to some one who will take permanent charge. In Washington we have already seen what such a group of women can do. Mrs. Mina Van Winkle is at the head of an excellent force of policewomen in that city, the force having been organized under that splendid Washington police commissioner, Major Pullman who died a year ago.

"The work of the policewomen is somewhat akin to that of the Travelers' Aid Society in that the work of the travelers' aid has a broader

MILLIONAIRE HUSBAND WAS BEGGAR, SAID

Love has its trials and very often the "Prince" is not "charming." So it was in the case of pretty Mrs. Lillian Van d'Loye, seventeen, and a bride of but a few months. Her romance began last summer when she met James Robert Van d'Loye of San Francisco, Cal. He told her, says the bride, that his father was a millionaire many times over. After the wedding she discovered that while her "Prince Charming" made a decided "splurge" at night, by day he was a "blind" beggar. So she has begun suit for the annulment of her marriage in the San Francisco courts.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS TO MARK WINDUP OF RED CROSS DRIVE

In an effort to conclude the Fourth Roll Call of the American Red Cross, in this city, strenuous efforts will be made by local campaigners before Wednesday.

Monday morning the school children were organized for the work, with teams and captains, and they have been instructed not only to solicit their own families but the families in the neighborhood in the final effort to make every family in the city hold a membership in the Red Cross.

Mrs. Lulu Quisenberry, executive secretary of the local chapter, and the Rev. E. W. Middleton, pastor of the First Reformed Church, organized high school students for the final drive Monday. At Central High, they appointed Miss Eula Cusick, captain of the girls, and A. Clark Lackey, captain of the boys, to solicit memberships. At McKinley Junior High, Miss Mary Oglesbee will captain the girls and Ross Spahr the boys.

Students at St. Brigid's Parochial School and Lincoln High, have also been appealed to assist in putting the Roll Call over. If there is anyone in the city who has been missed by the solicitors and have not become 1921 members of the Red Cross, a solicitor will be sent to them to sign up their membership, if they call Bell phone 923-R or Citizen 127.

affords protection for girls, although the travelers' aid has a broader scope than this. But the value of preventative work has been completely demonstrated by the experience of the travelers' aid. We have come to see clearly how necessary this work is in all cities." When asked if she thought that conditions among girls and women in Detroit were particularly bad at present, Miss Murray said no, that the desire to organize a women's police force was not a sign that conditions were worse but that the authorities were more enlightened.

BUSINESS WOMEN OF XENIA TO FORM AN ALTRUSA CLUB

Serious consideration will be given the formation of an Altrusa Club, an organization of business women in this city, following a meeting held at the home of Miss Fay Ledbetter, 240 North Galloway street, Sunday afternoon.

About a dozen Xenia business women and ten members of the Altrusa Club of Dayton were present at the meeting, which developed into an enthusiastic gathering favoring the formation of such a club here. Miss Bessie D. Moore, Dayton attorney, and president of the national organization, addressed the meeting, explaining the purposes of the club as did Miss Nellie H. Mitterdorf, secretary of the Dayton Club.

The Altrusa Club is organized on the same plan as the Rotary and Lions Clubs in that it accepts but one member from each business or profession in the city. Unlike the others, members of the Altrusa Club must be executives or department heads before given admittance. The club has for its aims, practically the same purposes as the Rotary Club, and in its four years of existence has proven popular with business women. The club has local organizations now only in the larger cities. The club motto is "patriotism, efficiency, service."

At the meeting Sunday, local business women present decided to advance the movement as much as possible, but will not attempt organization until after the holidays. In the meantime those interested in the project will attempt to work up sentiment favoring the organization, with a view to forming a local club some time soon.

THREE ARE MENTIONED FOR CABINET JOBS

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 13.—Mayor Moore of Philadelphia, James M. Beck, former assistant attorney general and W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad were favorably mentioned as cabinet possibilities by U. S. Senator Boise Penrose today.

The senator mentioned Mayor Moore as a possibility for the post of secretary of the interior. He said Beck's name had been mentioned in connection with the post of secretary of state and as an alternative for ambassador to England.

Senator Penrose again made it clear that he would not support Elihu Root for any cabinet post. Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, Senator Harding's pre-campaign manager is expected to arrive here today for a conference with Senator Penrose.

CLOTHING INDUSTRY THREATENED BY UNION

New York, Dec. 13.—Union leaders of New York clothing workers, threatened today to "paralyze" the clothing industry by nightfall unless there was a backdown by employers who have declared for reduced wages and an open shop.

Solidifying their lines, pickets representing 65,000 workers were stationed about 20 factories while 14 mass meetings of clothing workers were held throughout greater New York. Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, said the issue was "clear."

HAD TO HOLD TO SIDE OF BED UPON RISING EVERY MORNING

Back hurt so bad couldn't straighten up till he had walked round a while. Kidneys caused the trouble, but Drecto set them right.

"Many a morning I've had to hold to the side of the bed in order to get up, and then walk around for a while before I could straighten up," said Mr. Albert Logan, a farmer living near Athens, Ohio.

"For five years I've been in miserable health. My kidneys were weak and I'd be up five or six times during the night from them. I had terrible pains in my back. My liver was lazy, and I'd get so dizzy sometimes I'd have to stop a few minutes till it passed off. My stomach was also out of order and often swelled up like an army balloon from the gas in it. I was constipated and so nervous I couldn't sleep much.

"Things are different now, though for I jump right out of bed into my clothes, and ready for a big breakfast. Don't have to get up during the night a single time; bowels acting regularly; no more dizzy spells and I sleep like a log. All this change was brought on by taking Drecto and I think it is the greatest medicine I ever saw.

All druggists now sell Drecto and it is being especially introduced in Xenia at Sohn's Drug Store.

ABOUT THE AWARDING OF THE WORLD FAMOUS NOBEL PEACE PRIZE TO PRESIDENT WILSON.

The appropriateness of the award of the Nobel peace prize to President Wilson will be generally recognized, and no partisan feeling will temper the approval. It is the third time the award has come to America; and since the prize was bestowed upon Elihu Root in 1912 America has given proof of her devotion to peace by putting forth her mightiest effort in behalf of embattled civilization. The world is now looking for and listening for the voice of America toward the permanent establishment of law and order; and no patriot who looks back upon our history can doubt what our course will be, even though we may move slowly and carefully and though we may insist on clear understandings as we move at all. America's voice for peace will forever be potent and her declaration for war momentous. In the award of the prize established by the idealist who invented dynamite that fact is recognized.

Of course it is recognized that the awarding of these Nobel Prizes is intended as a personal honor, and in the case of this one to President Wilson, is based on what he is supposed to have done to help stop the recent great world war. In this respect, it must be recognized that the committee having in charge the giving of this great prize, must have taken much pains to certainly determine to whom due. The honor is certainly a very great one—the picking from millions, the world over, the one man, more than any one else, to whose influence the whole human family is indebted for whatever degree of Peace has come to it for the time being.

In national political campaigns it is often unfortunate that language of a derogatory nature is used—more in a Pickwickian than personal sense—but when the campaign is over this is forgotten, as it should be. So, as to President Wilson, we must all acknowledge that he is a great man in many respects, and must be glad to have him so honored as he has been as the recipient of this world famous Nobel Prize.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., LIVES UNOSTENTATIOUSLY, AVOIDS EASE AND EXTRAVAGANCE.

By B. C. FORBES.

The man who has the responsibilities of actively administering the largest fortune the world has ever known is not the person popularly imagined. It isn't John D. Rockefeller, aged eighty-one. It is John D. Rockefeller, Jr., now forty-six years old.

Some sons of rich men lead lives of ease and extravagance. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., indulges in neither. His home in New York is no Fifth Avenue palace; it is just an ordinarily comfortable dwelling and wouldn't attract the attention of a single sightseer. He lives unostentatiously, and his six children are being taught the simple life.

The question is often asked: "What sort of a fellow is young Rockefeller?" Also, "How does he spend his time? What is he particularly interested in—making money, distributing money, or simply enjoying himself?"

Mr. Rockefeller answered my questions frankly and fully. He realizes that men in positions of great power or great wealth should not try to hold themselves aloof from the public and public matters, but should accept their full share of the duties of citizenship and live a life befitting a democracy. "Of course, I have to spend a great deal of time—far more than you would probably imagine—in considering problems arising in connection with the many companies we are associated with," said Mr. Rockefeller. "While I am not a director in a single company, yet our interest in many cases is so substantial that the officers frequently seek consultation with us on various matters of policy, particularly matters invested with a public interest. In this sense, therefore, I devote a great deal of time to business, to the oversight of our investments and the policies of the companies we are heavily interested in.

"For example, I have lately, in connection with certain companies, devoted much time and study to a plan for enabling employees to become stockholders. It is of vital importance that any plan of this kind be absolutely sound. The public is entitled to assume that any large concern adopting such a plan has conducted a careful investigation and thorough study of every phase of so important a matter before taking action.

"Another matter I am interested in is the question of profit-sharing. I have always believed in the principle theoretically. I am now having an extensive investigation made into all sorts of profit-sharing plans and how they have worked, with a view to ascertaining whether there is a sound and workable method of making the principle effective."

THE SECRET SORROW.

I have a sorrow in my breast, a brother to despair; and I've concluded it is best to keep the blamed thing there. You ask, "What is this carking woe, that has your soul capsize?" But you will never, never know—it won't be advertised. I've found a martyr never fails men's sympathy to share, so long as he omits details about his Secret Care. 'Tis best to merely shed a sigh, and sadly wag one's ears, and carry in one's starboard eye a pair of unshed tears; and one may spring some cautious hints about his broken heart; but if he hands out large blue prints, the listeners depart. A mystic sorrow, undefined, its boundaries in doubt, appeals quite strongly to the mind of every human scout. Men wonder what has wrecked your past, destroyed your fondest goal, and frozen, as with winter blast, the current of your soul. And there is pity in their glance when you they contemplate; you are a figure of romance, a Manfred up to date. But if you tell them you have corns, they mutter, "Shoo!" or "Scat!" For every honest voter scorns a sordid woe like that. And so I heave a soulful sigh, as one who'd fain be dead; but if you ask the reason why, I merely shake my head.

FAITH!

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Miami Telephone Company is making arrangements for a number of radical changes in its system in this city and on a visit to Chicago a day or two ago. Manager George Little arranged for a new switch board, capable of accommodating a thousand lines. It will be some time before the new system is installed and when it is completed the company will move to the Cranford building occupying the second floor.

Mr. Marcus Shoup afforded a pleasant evening to the directors of the Home Building and Savings Association last night by giving them a trolley ride and a oyster supper. When the party took their departure they expected to enjoy an oyster supper but they were agreeably surprised however when a short distance from city to see preparations for serving the feast on the car with a mammoth turkey and all the adjuncts.

Mr. Arthur Fessenden who has been employed at the Gazette office for the past fifteen years has resigned his position having secured an excellent one in the Government Printing office in Washington D. C.

The cutters at the Xenia Shoe factory have now begun on the spring orders and within a short time the factory will be running full force. The election put a little check on business but it is booming along again and orders are being sent in lively.

SHUTDOWN FACED BY SILVER MINES THROUGHOUT MEXICO

Five Hundred Thousand Workers Will Be Out of Employment.

Mexico City, Dec. 13.—With approximately one-third of the republic's 3500 silver and copper mines closed because of the low market price of those metals, the government this week will take emergency measures to prevent complete paralysis of the industry according to a treasury department statement.

More than 500,000 laborers would be made idle if all the mines closed. The action is expected to take the form of a presidential decree reducing freight rates and federal taxes and annulling laws restricting the importation of materials such as steel, powder, acids and tools.

Representatives of large mining interests have asserted that the present market price of silver of 58 cents per troy ounce renders operation of the mines impossible except at a loss of approximately 22 cents on each ounce, although federal aid in the form of reduction of freight rates and taxes would make possible at least partial operation until the market ascends.

Reflecting on the delicate situation is the refusal of Mexico City bankers yesterday to accept silver deposits of more than 20 pesos. The government is known to be coining only insignificant amounts of silver.

Folks With Thin, Pale Blood Hesitate—Feel Uncertain

SHOULD TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

Red-Blooded Men and Women Know What They Want To Do and Do It

It may be you are just recovering from a sick spell—or may be your system is run down and your blood so weak that you are in a poor shape to resist infection—

But if you don't feel and look robust you are not robust. Such state is often due to weak blood, not enough red blood cells, a condition known as anemia.

The best remedy for anemia (bloodlessness) with its low mental and physical vigor is Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Pepto-Mangan supplies the weak, watery blood with the very elements it needs to put new life into it. It repairs, re-treats, and re-builds the exhausted blood, the vital fluid of health and life. Try Pepto-Mangan if you are "run-down." It cannot harm you—it will certainly help you unless you have some deep-seated chronic disease requiring the physician's care. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan. For sale at all druggists.—Advertisement.

L. J. TABER TOUTED FOR SECRETARY OF OHIO AGRICULTURE

Master Of State Grange May Be Appointee Of Davis.

Cleveland, Dec. 13.—Although grange leaders declare that L. J. As master of the grange, Taber receives $1200 a year and a per diem.

Taber, who is a Republican president elector, is being mentioned for state secretary of agriculture under the administration of Governor-elect Davis. Friends are boosting C. A. Dyer, Jackson; G. R. Lewis, Hancock county, and C. F. Kreidler, Trumbull county, for overseer.

It is expected that the following officials will be re-elected: W. G. Vandenberg, Zanesville, secretary; Harry Cabon, Coshocton, state lecturer and State Senator O. Demuth, New Philadelphia, treasurer.

An exhibit, including farm produce, by Cuyahoga county patrons will be a feature of the meeting. Thousands of dollars have been spent on this exhibit at the chamber of commerce.

for the year during the week of Dec. 4 according to a statement issued tonight by the geological survey, showing the output for the week to have been 12,757,000 tons of bituminous and 2,051,000 tons of anthracite.

The weeks soft coal production has been exceeded only four times since the geological survey has been recording the weekly output, three of which weeks were in 1913 and one last year.

The record production of bituminous coal was attributable the survey said to the ability of the railroads to supply cars. Figures obtained by the survey showed that 232,340 cars had been delivered to the mines and his, it was explained was done in the face of withdrawal by the interstate commerce commission a few days previously of all priorities on open-top cars.

The soft coal production for the first 287 working days of this year however still lags behind 1917 and 1918 although nearly 90,000,000 tons greater than last year. This year's output to Dec. 4, was 512,431,000 tons, the production for the same period last year was 425,291,000 tons; for 1918, 545,858,000 tons and for 1917, 516,172,000 tons.

ATTEMPT TO LOCATE OWNER OF AUTO

In an attempt to locate the owners of Hudson touring car bearing Ohio license number 425,992, A. W. Parvin, owner of the Central garage 3 Highland avenue, Ft. Thomas, Ky., has written to City Auditor T. H. Zell, local distributor of licenses last year.

Parvin says the car has been left in his garage and he wants to assure himself that it has not been stolen. He said in his letter here, that he had been advised that Mr. Zell gave out the license carried on the machine. The license however, was one deceived by Mr. Zell here but was not given out here, being returned to Columbus, with a number of others that were not sold.

If you have a car which would be worth more to somebody else than you, offer it through the classified.

TOKIO TO HAVE FIRST SUBWAY IN THE ORIENT

Tokio, Dec. 13.—Plans for thirty miles of subway lines to be built in the capital city of Japan are now under consideration here. Ever since the plan for the underground lines as a means of relieving the badly congested traffic of Tokio was suggested in 1913 there has been skepticism because of the fact that Tokio is built on ground that was once part of the sea, or "made ground." The new engineering company, agents for the Tokio Underground Railways Co., Ltd., claims to have made tests but announces that there is no doubt of the ability of the land to stand the construction of the subway.

The company received its charter in 1918 from the Government. It has recently voted to increase its capital stock from ¥10,000,000 ($500,000) to ¥80,000,000 ($4,000,000).

If the plans as submitted are carried out Tokio will have the first underground railway line ever built in the Orient. While the company's plans are still in the formative stage, it has gone as far as to establish headquarters in the Kajo Building, and arrange for calling into consultation prominent engineering men from France and America.

Silk sweaters will again reign as the fashionable wrap for the winter resort wear. Here is a very pretty model in fancy weave trimmed with the new woven trimming, "Toile de Tapis."

DOCK HIDES STEAMER WHEN EXTREME TIDE GOES OUT

Steamer "Lubec," photographed at the Eastport, Me., wharf at high and low tide.

The far east frontier island city of Eastport, Maine, is one of the very few places on the entire coast where very extreme tides are encountered. During June 18 the tides registered 28 feet 1 inch, the highest of the year, but during January, April, May, July, August, November and December were 27 feet, and frequently during the year were 26 feet.

When very high tides are in a number of the Eastport wharves are overflowed for a few hours, but being strongly constructed are rarely damaged and boat landings are not interfered with. The "Lubec," ferryboat steamer, is seen above at her Eastport wharf at low and high tide.

The O. S. & S. O. Home basketball team won its first game of the season at Armory Hall Saturday night defeating the Xenia Tigers, by the score of 24-18.

The Tigers were handicapped by the absence of a few of their regulars but put up a snappy article of the court game and made the contest interesting from the start. Both teams started slow, neither being able to locate the nets during the first ten minutes of play. "Evans broke the ice with a field goal but the scant lead entailed by the Tigers was soon overcome by the Home lads. The first half ended with the score 10-8. Torrence and Nolan starred for Coach Horen's lads, who are showing much promise this season. The lineup and summary:

Brooks himself in an effort to throw Bill Gallagher of Newark, with whom he wrestled to a draw in the last matches, will meet the Newark boy again in the preliminary. The place of the matches has not been decided upon.

MCKINLEY TEAM DEFEATS ROSS 24-2

Preventing the Ross Township High second team from even scoring one field goal, the McKinley Junior High basketball team defeated the visitors in the game played at the Rink Friday afternoon by the score of 24-2.

The two points obtained by the Ross aggregation were the result of two free tosses made by Cummings. Not once during the contest did the Ross lads swish the net from the floor other than through the free throw method.

The game was interesting and a remarkable exhibition of defensive play on the part of the locals. Perrine was the shining light of the McKinley quintet with six field goals to his credit. In a preliminary game, the Ross Township girl's second team defeated the McKinley girls 18-3.

"MY LADY FRIENDS" VICTORY ATTRACTION

"My Lady Friends" will be seen at the Victory Theatre, Dayton, Tuesday night. The new comedy that will introduce Jack Norworth in the leading role, and which has played the entire season at the Comedy Theatre in New York City deals with the adventures of a young business man who has become suddenly rich through a boom in the Bible selling business. laughable situations. Mr. H. H. HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Recently I proposed to a young lady with whom I have been keeping company nearly two years. We have had no quarrels during that time and up to the present date. I proposed to her several other times, but she would neither say "yes" or "no." I received a reply to my last proposal, which I quote:

"Your proposition deserves condemnation, so without hesitation, I remain your, K. C."

As she lives in another city I have not the chance to ask her what she means, and so I am asking you.

From the girl's answer to your proposal, it is difficult to know what she does mean. She is probably accepting you and tried to be original in her method.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There is a certain girl who is jealous and envies everything my friend and I have. She talks about us to other people and then tries to stay with us and get us to talk about them.

We try to be as nice to her as possible and it makes us feel badly not to know what else to do. Every new thing we get she says is not pretty and then two or three weeks later she will have one just like it. She makes her dresses like ours. I don't mind that so much, but she copies every lesson we write. What would you advise us to do?

When you know that the girl has been talking about you to other people, go to her and tell her that you do not like her methods of being a friend. It will be a good lesson for her to be called to time for talking behind your back.

Do not let her copy your lessons.

Tell her you have worked for your information, and you want her to work for hers.

As for her copying your clothes, you might ask her if she doesn't think it is preferable to be original.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: For some time I have been going with a boy who has been working in this town. He wrote to me this summer when I was away on a visit and after I returned he asked me to go steady with him. This I refused to do, but I have gone with him quite often just the same. I wrote several letters to him while he was still in town and he was with me just two nights before he left.

He is now working in another town, but I have not heard from him since he left. Do you think it would be all right if I wrote to him, or should the boy always write first? If I do write, do you think it would look as if I were running after him? PUZZLED GIRL.

The boy should write first. You might wait and send him a Christmas greeting. I imagine he still likes you, but has been busy with new interests.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young lady of twenty-three years and I am in love with a young man. We are engaged. He has recently left the city. I have been receiving mail from him and he says he does not receive any mail from me. I am sure it is not my fault. He has begun to be angry because he does not hear from me. Please advise me what to do. BLUE EYES.

Always put your return address on the envelope of a letter you are mailing. It may be that the young man has given you a wrong address, in which case it is his fault that he does not hear from you. If the letters you send to him are returned to you, you will have to verify his address in some way.

THIS WOMAN SAYS MATERNITY DOES NOT NECESSARILY INTERFERE WITH CAREER

Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer and her "successful" baby.

Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, public guardian of Cook county, Ill., disproves the theory that maternity interferes with a woman's career. She has a successful law practice as well as her public guardianship and in addition to these she has a "successful" baby, now seven months old. Mrs. Spencer is said to be the only woman attorney in Cook county who has handled murder cases. She has freed two persons held on murder charges.

RELAX WHEN YOU CAN

Paris, November 8, 1920.

One of the things that has been most impressed upon me over here is the great importance which the French woman attaches to her proper rest. Except in a few places which are run mostly for American tourists, there is a very little of the late night life which a great many of our own country women indulge in.

As a rule, the Frenchwoman goes to the theatre, occasionally to a restaurant afterwards, and home and to bed at a comparatively early hour. The fashionable Frenchwoman is able to stay in bed and to have her breakfast served to her there. This "petit déjeuner" as they call it, consists of nothing but most delicious buttered rolls and chocolate, or perhaps coffee. The real breakfast does not come until about 12 o'clock.

It is not so much the length of time between meals, which the French count on to keep them beautiful, as it is the amount of rest they take. If they can lie in bed late in the morning, so much the better. If they cannot, they usually manage to slip in a little half-hour nap during the latter part of the afternoon. The English have that sacred hour between 4 and 5 o'clock when they relax at tea, and then go back to their work, rested and refreshed.

But few people in Paris have afternoon tea. It is a function at the Ritz, but that is because the Ritz is the great meeting place for fashionable foreigners. But the French women I have met, tell me that even when they work hardest they manage to get some little time between luncheon and dinner for relaxation.

As a matter of fact, I think that the effervescent temperament is such that the women can relax even when they are working hardest. They do not worry uselessly, they can step in the middle of the hardest work for a little laughter and talk, which is in itself relaxation.

I have, of course, often preached this before. It is no new idea—to snatch a moment's rest during the strain of hard work, but it has been particularly impressed upon me when I see how hard many French women do work, and how long they keep their youth and attraction. I am sure that the ability to relax is more than half the secret of it.

MORE PROTECTION FOR PANAMA CANAL NEEDED IS BELIEF

Ancon, Canal Zone, Dec. 13.—Stronger fortifications for the Panama Canal—this is the cry of the American military and naval men here.

Military leaders among the American forces are thoroughly convinced that some day the United States must fight for the Panama Canal. They argue that commerce is the root of all war and that gradually the world will awaken to the fact that in the Panama Canal the United States holds the key to the success or failure of a large proportion of world commerce.

President-elect Harding and his party on their recent visit here saw the fortifications of the Panama Canal and they heard suggestions that greater fortifications are necessary. They were noncommittal, but it was generally evident that some of the members of the party were impressed by the need of more fortifications.

"This great work that cost billions is surely worth protection," Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, a member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, said after he had viewed the fortifications.

The Panama Canal is not invulnerable now; that is certain, despite the great guns which poke out of the hills of Panama.

From attack by sea on the Pacific side the Canal seems to be fairly well protected. Fortifications are not quite as well developed on the Atlantic side.

From the air the canal is extremely vulnerable. One well-placed bomb at Gatun locks might ruin the work of many years. Yet at Gatun there are but a few anti-aircraft guns pointing their muzzles to the skies. Gatun is well located for an air attack. It is within easy striking distance for airplanes launched from ships or even flown from fields in adjacent Central American countries.

There is a naval air station and an army station within a few miles of Gatun, but the forces at these stations are not large and it is doubtful whether they could withstand any well-organized offense.

At present the naval forces in the Canal Zone comprise a submarine flotilla. Destroyers are promised and it is argued that either the Atlantic or Pacific fleet are within easy calling distance yet to the untrained eye it appears that a sudden and timely attack might well put the Panama Canal out of action and separate the Pacific and Atlantic fleets.

Whether or not the United States is ever forced to fight for the Panama Canal, and whether or not the fortifications as at present constituted are strong enough, it seems certain that Congress is going to hear more about the needs of defenses for the Canal Zone than any previous Congress has ever heard.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Wash one pound of beans and soak over night. In the morning wash again and then place in a saucepan and parboil for ten minutes. Drain and then place in a baking pan. Season and add one pound of spare ribs. Cover with water and then bake slowly for two and one-half hours.

Fried Egg Plant (Perfect substitute for meat)—Peel and cut in slices one-half inch thick, sprinkle lightly with salt and let stand one hour, after which dip them in beaten egg, then in flour or cracker crumbs, and fry brown on both sides. Serve at once.

Macaroni Delight—Cook one and one-half cups of macaroni until soft; drain, add two large tomatoes chopped fine, one small onion, three-fourths pound of hamburger, which has been slightly fried in a skillet; one cup milk, salt, pepper and a small amount of parsley; cook this together for ten minutes and add a very small amount of thickening made from flour and water if you do not like it thin. This makes a very excellent dish and takes the place of meat.

Raw Hash—So-called because of preparing hash from raw potatoes as in raw fried. It is a pleasing change from the usual hash. It is very good made with corned beef, but any leftover meat may be used. Cut meat fine and fry with minced onion in small amount of fat. Add raw potato which has been cut in small dice, and a tablespoon or two of water. Simmer on low fire until cooked through.

SOME WALNUT RECIPES.
Housewives have learned to combine walnuts in the making of nut rolls, scones, wafers, sandwich filling, soufflé, cakes, poultry dressing, loaf, sauce, salads and a variety of candies and other after-dinner delicacies.

Following are a few new walnut recipes which are recommended by culinary experts:

Salmon Soufflé—Small can salmon, one-half cup bread crumbs, one-half cup milk, three eggs, one cup chopped walnut meats, salt, paprika and lemon juice; then add milk, yolks of eggs and walnut meats. Fold in whites of eggs well beaten. Bake in buttered pan twenty minutes. Serve with cream sauce.

Sweet Potatoes and Marshmallows—Eight medium sized sweet potatoes, three-quarters cup chopped walnut meats, one-half pound fresh marshmallows, butter size of walnut, salt and pepper. Boil potatoes, remove skins and mash. Add walnuts, butter, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly and put in baking dish. Cover with marshmallows and just before serving put in oven until marshmallows rise and become a delicate brown.

Walnut and Olive Sandwich Filling—Mix equal parts of walnut meats and ripe olives chopped fine with enough mayonnaise to spread. Sandwich filling: One-half cup of walnut meats chopped fine, one-half cup sharp eastern cheese (grated), one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one-third teaspoon paprika. Mix with enough mayonnaise to spread.

The Woman He Married

BY JANE PHELPS

Nan Finds Dick Out With Junior.

Chapter 37.
Mildred joined us after the concert. She also was going to the tea. After greeting us she said:

"You look charming, Nan. Doesn't she, Mrs. Watson?"
"Indeed she does. That is a love of a dress."

"Flatterers!" I laughed, flushing.
The studio was crowded with either very smart or very peculiar looking people.

"Society people, or writers and artists," Mildred whispered. Then she introduced us to several charming men and women. One girl with bobbed hair, wearing a smock, interested me and I inquired who she was.
"Aime Lawton, a Greenwich Village artist. She is very clever, does drops for the stage etcetera."

"But why does she dress like that?"
"Just a fad with her, I imagine. With some it is a matter of economy, perhaps necessity."

"I never have been in Greenwich Village."

"We must make up a party some night and go down," Mildred declared, "George doesn't care much about the Village, but I guess I can coax him to go with us. If not, we'll go anyway." Then to Clara: "Would you and Mr. Watson care to join the party?"

"I would love it and am sure Jim would be pleased," Clara responded enthusiastically. She told me afterward that it wouldn't have made one bit of difference where Mildred had asked her to go, she would have accepted.

"Then it is settled that some night next week we make up a party and 'do' the Village. Don't wear too good clothes. Some of the places aren't as clean as they might be." Mildred laughed as she said it. Miss Lawton had joined us, and I expect she didn't want to hurt her feelings by disparaging the Village.

We had tea and crumpets and cute little cakes. An Hawaiian orchestra played while tea was being served, and afterward there was some singing. It was nearly 6 o'clock when we left. Dick would be at home before me.

In my interest in what had been going on, I had forgotten to think of myself—my dress. And, with the thought of Dick, came the thought that he had never seen me in that dress. I would have to make explanations. I was just a little distressed.

I knew I would have to some day, of course, but had hoped to put it off until he had recovered from the moving. But he should make more money. It was ridiculous that he should hold a position where he might—and not take advantage of it.

I never could have gone to that studio tea if I hadn't a decent dress.

so I tried to make myself believe. Yet there had been several there who were not as well dressed as I would have been, had I worn my old suit. This I tried to ignore, because I would have been utterly miserable in it. I was very quiet going home—Mildred took us up-town in her car. Both she and Clara teased me about it, and I pretended I had a slight headache.

"It was close in the studio," Clara said. "All that incense burning and no windows open, made me a little dizzy also."

"Don't forget our party next week," Mildred said as she left us at the house, after telling us how nice it had been to be together. "I'll get George to fix a night when he can go, and will telephone you."

I hurried into the elevator.

"Is Mr. Williams in?" I asked.

"He went out with the kid about five minutes ago," the fresh elevator boy told me.

I worked quickly when I reached our apartment. I pulled off my dress before I removed my hat, and hung it away in the closet. Then I donned my work dress, put my hat and gloves away, and when Dick came in, was busily engaged in getting dinner.

I had postponed the evil day, but I was not quite happy. I had not yet become hardened to deceitful ways.
